

J244-P005

Room: Poster Session Hall

Time: May 19

Seasonal change of water quality in the ponds located in Western-north kanto prefectore.

Minako Fukuda[1]

[1] Geo-environmental Sci.Rissho Univ.

Cations and anions in the water of typical four ponds located in the North Western Kanto prefecture were studied to investigate the impacts of human activity. Eutrophication is one of the possible impacts observed in the two of the four ponds surrounded by newly opened orchard and flower garden.