

The possibility of new science program creation for the land under the operational satellite programs

KAJIWARA, Koji<sup>1*</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Center for Environmental Remote Sensing, Chiba Univ.

Operational satellite projects, such as weather satellites and disaster monitoring satellite is always required in the future, also easy to obtain public understanding. Discussion point this presentation is examination of the possibility of creating a researchers community of plan to create a new science field of land at the beginning of these satellite projects.

Keywords: land, satellite program