

Redox buffering of host rock and its suitable repository depth

YOSHIDA, Hidekazu<sup>1*</sup>, YAMAMOTO, Koshi<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Nagoya University

Buffering capacity of underground environment is one of the important function for geological disposal of radioactive waste. This paper will be discuss about the suitable depth in terms of buffering capacity of geological environment.

Keywords: Underground environment, Redox processes, Buffering capacity, disposal depth