

Jupiter's radio emissions observed by Galileo spacecraft

Kazumasa Imai [1], Naoko Tanabe [2], Midori Yamashita [2], Charles A. Higgins [3], Reyes Francisco [4]

[1] Dept. of Electrical Eng., Kochi National College of Technology, [2] Dept. of Electrical Eng., Kochi National College of Technology, [3] NRC NASA Goddard Space Flight Center, [4] Department of Astronomy, Univ. of Florida

<http://www.kochi-ct.ac.jp/~imai/>

We present the results of a survey of Jupiter's radio data observed by the Galileo spacecraft. The results indicate that the strong relationship between the hectometric and decametric radio emissions.