

Subtype and Pairing of Japanese Antarctic Ordinary Chondrites by TL method

Kiyotaka Ninagawa [1], Konosuke Soyama [2], Shin Toyoda [2], Naoya Imae [3], Hideyasu Kojima [4]

[1] Applied Phys. Okayama Univ. of Science, [2] Applied phys., Okayama Univ. Sci., [3] AMRC, NIPR, [4] NIPR, Meteorites

Subtype of Antarctic unequilibrated ordinary chondrites have been determined by thermoluminescence method. Subtypes of Y-75029 and Y-791856 in H chondrites are 3.1-3.2 and 3.3, respectively. Primitive chondrites under 3.3 in H chondrites are rare.