

Pressure-temperature path of clinopyroxene-garnet-amphibolite in the Amakusa Takahama district, western Kyushu, Japan

Takeshi Ikeda [1], Hitoshi Yoshida [1], Tadao Nishiyama [2], Takeru Yanagi [1]

[1] Earth and Planetary Sci., Kyushu Univ, [2] Earth Sci., Kumamoto Univ.

This study describes the mode of occurrence of the metamorphic rocks in the Amakusa Takahama district, western Kyushu, Japan. Microstructures preserved in the clinopyroxene- and garnet-bearing amphibolite are indicative of two retrograde reactions.