

Development of pop-up type ocean bottom seismometer for long-term broad-band observation

Toshihiko Kanazawa [1], Masashi Mochizuki [2], Tomoki Watanabe [3], Hajime Shiobara [4], Hideyuki Murakami [5], Hideki Inatani [6]

[1] ERI, Tokyo Univ, [2] ERI, Univ. of Tokyo, [3] Earthquake Res. Inst., Univ. Tokyo, [4] Dep. Earth Sci., Fac. Sci., Toyama Univ., [5] KAIYO DENSHI, [6] Katsujima Co., Ltd.

Pop-up type ocean bottom seismometer(OBS)s have been developing for a long-term observation, a broad-band observation and a high-fidelity observation. Processes of the generation of a submarine earthquake and dynamics of the Earth will be investigated using these OBSs.