

Sr isotopic composition and formative process of the Kofu plutonic complex

Tetsu Saitoh[1], Makoto Arima[2], Takashi Nakajima[3]

[1] Geol. Inst. YNU, [2] Geolo. Instit. Yokohama Natl. Univ., [3] GSJ

The Kofu plutonic complex is divided into four units according to their occurrence, petrography, and whole rock chemistry. Sr isotopic composition shows that it is difficult to consider the magma of the Kofu plutonic complex is formed by contamination of wall rocks with Tanzawa-type magma.