

After glow colour images of quartz crystals in volcanic rocks

Hirokazu Fujimaki[1], Masaru Ono[2], Taichiro Horie[3], Kazuhito Yajima[4], Tetsuo Hashimoto[5], Takashi Tsuboi[6]

[1] Inst. Min. Pet. Econ. Geol., Tohoku Univ., [2] Institute Min., Petro. and Eco. Geology, Tohoku Univ., [3] Fac. Sci., Tohoku Univ., [4] Inst. of Min., Petr. and Econ. Geol., Tohoku Univ, [5] Dept. Chemistry, Niigata Univ., [6] Dept. Chemistry, Niigata Univ.,

After glow colour images of quartz crystals were investigated. Quartz crystals in dacites from Adachi volcano, Ogasawara Chichijima emit red AGCI. In contrast, quartz crystals from Fugendake, Unzen volcano, and Sanbe volcano, Hijiori volcano emit blue AGCI. They must have different history.

After glow colour images of quartz crystals were investigated. Quartz crystals in dacites from Adachi volcano, Ogasawara Chichijima emit red AGCI. In contrast, quartz crystals from Fugendake, Unzen volcano, and Sanbe volcano, Hijiori volcano emit blue AGCI. They must have different history.