

Global Pc5 characteristics by quasi-periodic fluctuations in the solar wind dynamic pressure

Tetsuo Motoba[1], Takashi Kikuchi[2], kiyohumi yumoto[3]

[1] CRL, [2] Communications Res. Lab., [3] Earth and Planetary Sci., Kyushu Univ

In this paper, we present the global Pc5 characteristics excited by periodic fluctuations in the solar wind dynamic pressure, and identify that the twin current vortices in the high latitude ionosphere associated with the global Pc5 are centered at 5 degrees equatorward of the convection reversal boundary.