

Surface structure of Europa

Masahiko Arakawa[1]

[1] Inst. Low Temp. Sci., Hokkaido Univ.

<http://risu.lowtem.hokudai.ac.jp/~arak>

There were a lot of amazing discoveries by the exploration of Galileo spacecraft for Europa. We had new information of Europa in relation to the geological activities in it. In this paper, I review these new features of Europa and discuss their formation mechanisms in a point of view of ice physics in the extraterrestrial conditions.