Development of parallel solid earth simulation software : simulation of stick-slip experiment as a nonlinear contact problem

Takahiro Homma[1], Huilin Xing[2], Tomoshi Miyamura[2], Takashi Kanai[3], Akitake Makinouchi[4]

[1] F-RIC, [2] RIKEN, [3] Keio Univ. SFC, [4] MFL, RIKEN

http://www.riken.go.jp

The Institute of Physical and Chemical Research is developing a system of software for solid earth simulation. The simulation of the experiment on stick-slip shear failure of rock masses with this software is discussed. A stress storage process is calculated by a static analysis code and destruction process is investigated by a dynamic analysis code.