

Analysis of palaeo-redox condition based on uranium concentration in the calcite

Teruki Iwatsuki[1]; Randolph Arthur[2]; Mizuno Takashi[1]

[1] JNC TGC; [2] Monitor Sci.

Uranium concentrations in the calcite recently precipitated were analyzed to estimate palaeo-redox condition of groundwater. Theoretically estimated redox potentials were agree well with that of present groundwater. It may be possible to estimate palaeo-redox conditions based on uranium concentration in the calcite.