

Particle acceleration by a shock-shock collision

Kunihiko Yoshida[1]

[1] Earth and Planetary Sci.,Tokyo Univ

Particle acceleration upon a shock-shock collision is important for many astrophysical applications .We found the particle acceleration which is not depend on the mass number and charge number and depends on the direction and speed of injected particles.