

Simulation of small-scale magnetic flux ropes

Hironori Shimazu[1]; Motohiko Tanaka[2]

[1] NICT; [2] NIFS

Small-scale flux ropes have been found in interplanetary space. We use 2-D macro-particle code to perform a simulation of small-scale flux ropes. The results show that protons escape outside from the flux rope which coincides with the decrease in the electric current inside the flux rope.