

Overlook rate of earthquake prediction by means of ripple like structure of cloud observed from space

Shinichi Uda[1]

[1] Network the Earth

Overlook rate of earthquake prediction by means of ripple like structure of cloud observed from space is evaluated for earthquakes occurred in 2002, Magnitude larger than 5.5, around Japan.

As a result revised overlook rate is estimated 9% or 27%.