

Gender Equality in European Research Institution

Rumi Nakamura[1]

[1] IWF,OEAW

Although women are generally underrepresented in research and technology intensive professions, especially in management positions, there are a large variety of the situation among different countries within Europe. In this talk I will discuss on support and funding projects in Austria which tries to improve access to this professional field by creating career opportunities and improving basic conditions for women in research and technology.