As a position for youth scientists, temporal positions are increased and diversified, recently. As the temporal positions, there are COE PD (postdoctoral fellow), JSPS PD, PD employed by each university or institute and so on. Conditions of employment and working forms for the temporal positions are variety and depend on the employer and source of funds. For considering of future role (exists) of the temporal positions in our science community, it is important to gain an understanding of the actual situation in each temporal position. We conducted extensive survey on the conditions of employment and the working forms for the temporal positions. In this presentation, we will report results of the survey.
