

The condition to obtain ground water using double packer system

Kazuki Naito[1]; Yoji Seki[2]; Koichi Okuzawa[1]; Yoshio Watanabe[1]

[1] Research Center for Deep Geological Environments, AIST; [2] Research Center for Deep Geological Environments, AIST

<http://unit.aist.go.jp/deepgeo/>

Hydraulic experiments were done at Kanamaru area, Yamagata prefecture. The method to obtain the ground water using double packer system was examined. The rates of pumping up ground water from the target depth were controlled suitably. The obtained water samples using double packer system show nearly original water quality.