

I142-014

Room: 101B

Time: May 15 16:46-16:58

Plastic deformation of minerals at room temperature toshiaki masuda[1]; Mirai Yamanouchi[2]; Tomoya Miyake[3]; Ryoko Sakurai[4]; Atsushi Okamoto[5]

[1] Inst. Geosci., Shizuoka Univ.; [2] Geological Sci., Shizuoka Univ.; [3] Inst. Geos., Shizuoka Univ.; [4] Geological Sci., Shizuoka Univ.; [5] Tohoku Univ.

Typical minerals (quartz, calcite, tourmaline, topaz, garnet) were indented by a nano-indentation tester with a triangular diamond indenter at room temperature. All the minerals show clear triangular impressions accompanied with no fracturing when 100 mN is loaded. This observation indicates that these minerals plastically deformed even at room temperature.