

U054-005

Room: Ocean B

Time: May 14 10:45-11:15

MHD waves and plasma instabilities in black hole magnetospheres

Akira Tomimatsu[1]

[1] Department of Physics, Nagoya Univ

Using general relativistic MHD, some plasma instabilities in rotating black hole magnetospheres are investigated.

Energy transport due to the propagation of MHD waves from a distant region to the event horizon is also studied, and the time variation of the black hole mass is discussed.