

H213-007

Room: 303

Time: May 23 15:30-15:45

Clay material transportation from the Ashida river to the Seto Island Sea

Ryuji Kitagawa[1]

[1] Earth and Planetary Sci.Hiroshima Univ

Clay materials, such as clay minerals formed in rocks, flow always into the river. In particular a large amount of clay materials flow into the river by the heavy rain. Therefore the muddy river water flow into the sea.