

Development of land use texture data for 3-dimensional computer graphics

Keiichi Katsube[1]; Akira Doi[1]; Yousuke Seki[1]

[1] Hokkaido Chizu

<http://www.hcc.co.jp/>

3-dimensional representation technologies of spatial information are showing rapid progress as typified by Google Earth. Normally aerial photographs or satellite images are used as texture mapping data for 3D modeling.

We developed automatically generation technique of land use texture from vector topographic map database. This land use texture will be used for representation of various landscape.

