The 21th Century is the world of ever-experienced through the human history, because of the information revolution. The development of internet has drastically changed the international relationship, and the actual distance among nations became very close each other. In the other words, the whole world could be closely united together to make a loosely united super-nation. It is now on-going as seen in EU which is making law, president, parliament, university, and passport-free national borders.

Under the global movement of borderless world in 21 Century, Japan which way to go, in spite of insufficient experience of foreign affairs? In this chance, I intend to discuss the role and mission of the Japanese Government to take a strong leadership in 21 century, first in Asia, middle East and circum-Pacific nations. These framework is inevitably needed, because the 21th Century world will have the mission to solve the problems of global population explosion, global cooling and pollution diffusion..
