

International standards, are there any need necessity to mention it on the earth and planet science?

Yuichiro Fusejima[1]

[1] Geoinformation Integration Office, AIST, GSJ

<http://www.gsj.jp/Info/body2/ginf.html>

What is the International Standard? Are there any need necessity to mention it on the earth and planet science? Ts the purpose? The gain and loss? Does it have an obligation that bind? Must we pay mention to it? To solve many questions, I collected information about industry standards and standardizations on many papers, publications and the Web. The history and latest trend of the industry standards were studied. Following them, I reflected and considered the information on my works and studies involved in the international standards and standardizations.