

U051-010

Room: IC

Time: May 16 16:35-17:00

What is successful job hunting for graduate students of science?

nobunaga hayashi[1]

[1] none

There are four factors important for graduate school students and postdocs to find their jobs successfully; they are abilities, motivations, presentation skills, and schedule management. I am going to raise some cases to explain how all of them are essential for job hunting.