

MIS014-P01

Room: Convention Hall

Time: May 27 17:15-18:45

Atmospheric electric field variation associated with 2009 total solar eclipse

Masashi Kamogawa^{1*}, Hironobu Fujiwara², Isao Yamamoto³, Yoshihiro Kakinami⁴,
Toshiyasu Nagao⁵, Yukihiro Takahashi⁶, Ryoe Sato¹

¹Dpt. of Phys., Tokyo Gakugei Univ., ²Joshiseigakuin High School, ³Dpt. of Info. Comp. Eng., Okayama Univ.,
⁴Institute of Space Sci., National Centra, ⁵EQ Prediction Res. Center, Tokai Univ., ⁶Dpt. Cosmosci., Hokkaido Univ.

We observed variation of atmospheric electric field associated with 2009 total solar eclipse. Eight observation sites were installed for this eclipse. In Ogasawara Island, electric field enhanced after the total solar eclipse. In our presentation, we would like to discuss the mechanism of this enhancement.

Keywords: Total solar eclipse, Atmospheric electric field