

Measurement of snow depth distribution in the Kamikochi-Azusa river basin using an airborne laser scanning

Keisuke Suzuki<sup>1*</sup>, Akihiko SASAKI<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Institute of Mountain Science, Shinshu University

For the purpose of surveying the distribution of snow depth in the Kamikochi-Azusa river basin, airborne laser scanning was conducted. Snow depth was estimated as the difference in elevation between the snow and the ground surface.

Keywords: snow depth, Kamikochi-Azusa river, airborne laser scanning